Hon'ble Justice Shri. Parshuram Sawant (Retd.)

For Excellence in the field of Law & Judiciary

Justice P. B. Sawant was born on June 30, 1930. Mr. Sawant started his career as a lecturer in New Law College, Bombay, in 1965, teaching Private International Law and Constitutional Law. He was appointed to the Bombay high court in 1973, he was elevated to Supreme Court on October 6, 1989. He retired after six eventful years at the apex court on June 29, 1995, but continued to be active in public life for the next 25 years.

Among the landmark judgments which he authored as part of the constitution benches, the decisions in Mandal and S. R. Bommai cases stand out. He was also of the view that the constitution empowers the Centre to satisfy itself completely about the relevant facts in a state from sources other than the Governor.

Justice Sawant once said a judge should develop a strong sense of smell. "If something stinks, then he or she must be extra careful," he said, emphasising how right judicial instinct and skill of the judiciary could stop the misuse of the Public Interest Litigations (PIL) and restore to it to pristine character.

Justice Sawant was an advocate for pro-downtrodden, liberal judicial activism and was a leader of the PIL movement in Maharashtra.

Justice Sawant was the chairman of the inquiry committee set up to investigate the charges against Justice V. Ramaswami, the first judge to face impeachment motion in Parliament, in 1991.

Justice Sawant served as the Chairman of the Press Council of India after his retirement. During his term, he was the architect of the guideline that no newspaper shall publish exit-poll surveys, however genuine they may be, till the last of the polls is over. This was because he believed that the media should not allow themselves to be used for distortions and manipulations of the elections, and should not allow themselves to be exploited by interested parties.

Bedi took oath as the Lieutenant Governor of Puducherry on 29 May 2016, stating that she was aiming to make Puducherry prosperous through "trust, empowerment and accountability." One of the first practices she initiated as the Lieutenant Governor was to open the gates of Raj Nivas - the official residence of the Governor - to the public, thereby making it the "People's Nivas". She started an 'open house' process where the public could visit Raj Nivas from Monday to Wednesday at 17:00 to meet the Lieutenant Governor in person and have their grievances addressed. She undertook morning rounds on bicycle to inspect public amenities and interact with people.

Another project by Bedi has been 'Mission Water Rich Puducherry'. When she heard that the PWD did not have enough funds to de-silt water channels and the drains, she brought in community support in the form of CSR, connected donors with JCB machine contractors, and had the channels de-silted in short notice. Today, this model is being emulated across the country. Bedi has authored many books.

“Recipient Of Suryadatta Lifetime Achievement Award 2008”

Padma Bhushan Shri. Anna Hazare ji

For excellence in the field of Social Science

Kisan Baburao "Anna" Hazare an Indian social activist led movements to promote rural development, increase government transparency, and investigate and punish corruption in public life. In addition to organising and encouraging grassroots movements, Hazare frequently conducted hunger strikes to further his causes—a tactic reminiscent, to many, of the work of Mahatma Gandhi. Hazare also contributed to the development and structuring of Ralegan Siddhi, a village in Parner taluka of Ahmednagar district, Maharashtra, India. He was awarded the Padma Bhushan—the third-highest civilian award—by the Government of India in 1992 for his efforts in establishing this village as a model for others. Foreign Policy named him among top 100 global thinkers in 2011. Also in 2011, Hazare was ranked as the most influential person in Mumbai by a national daily newspaper.

During the Indo-Pakistani War of 1965, Hazare was posted at the border in the Khem Karan sector. He was the sole survivor of an enemy attack. During his fifteen-year career in the army (1960–75), [17] Anna Hazare was posted at several locations, including Punjab (Indo Pak war 1965), Nagaland, Bombay (1971) and Jammu (1974)

Anna has been instrumental in the transformation of village Ralegan Siddhi through various initiatives like Prohibition of alcohol, Grain Bank, Watershed development programme, etc. He also focused on facilities like Education, removal of untouchability through the Gram Sabha.

In 1991 Hazare launched the Bhrashtachar Virodhi Jan Andolan (BVJA, People's Movement against Corruption), a popular movement to fight against corruption [38] in Ralegaon Siddhi. In the same year he protested against the collusion between 40 forest officials and timber merchants. This protest resulted in the transfer and suspension of these officials. In the early 2000s Hazare led a movement in Maharashtra state which forced the state government to enact a revised Maharashtra Right to Information Act. This Act was later considered as the base document for the Right to Information Act 2005 (RTI), enacted by the Union Government. It also ensured that the President of India assented to this new Act.

In 2011, Hazare participated in the satyagraha movement campaigning for a stronger anti-corruption Lokpal (ombudsman) bill in the Indian parliament. Known as the Jan Lokpal Bill (People's Ombudsman Bill), it was drafted by N. Santosh Hegde, a former justice of the Supreme Court of India and Lokayukta of Karnataka, Prashant Bhushan, and social activist Arvind Kejriwal. The draft incorporated more stringent provisions and gave wider power to the Lokpal than the government's 2010 draft. These included placing "the Prime Minister within the ambit of the proposed lokpal's powers".

Within a few days of Anna Hazare's first fast demanding a strong Lokpal (on 5 April 2011), supporters started a campaign known as "I Am Anna Hazare", which was similar to the "We Are All Khaled Said" campaign from the Egyptian uprising. During Anna Hazare's second fast, his topi, the cap which became synonymous with Anna Hazare, became almost a fashion statement. Sales of the topis hit an all-time high. Kiran Bedi recommended that the "I am Anna" topi be displayed whenever someone asked for a bribe.
